

Call for PhD curriculum 2019-2021

Are you a PhD student working in the field of Child Health? Do you want to pursue a career as a Clinician Scientist?

The unique two-year TULIPS PhD curriculum might be just the thing for you! With the help of senior researchers, training weekends and workshops in all academic centers, this TULIPS PhD curriculum enables you to develop competencies, the network and the balance between professional and personal development as needed for leadership positions in pediatric science.

What is the PhD curriculum?

- A two year program with 10-15 selected clinician scientists (PhD students). The program includes:
 - o Workshops in all academic centers in the Netherlands
 - o The Young Investigators Day (2x)
 - o 3 Training weekends with senior TULIPS researchers

Who can apply?

- Students in preferably their 2nd or 3rd year of a PhD program in all fields of Child Health.

How do you apply?

- By mail/wetransfer submit to info@tulipsforchildhealth.nl :
 - o A personal and original reflection (maximum 1 page) shortly specifying who you are, what your development goals are (professional and personal, short and long-term). Most important to describe your biggest discovery in research and what you like most in your research. Besides we would like to hear how you think the TULIPS PhD curriculum will help to achieve your goals and what you can add to the TULIPS curriculum.
 - o A short video (max 2 minutes) in which you introduce yourself and tell us what you want to have achieved in the field of Child Health five to ten years from now.
 - o A candidate CV of maximum 2 pages and the name of the affiliated research topic/group.
 - o A letter of support (maximum ½ page) not explaining what you do, but explaining why you are outstanding. The letter should be co-signed by the head of the department expressing commitment to enable participation in the program.

Important information

- please submit your documents and video in English
- closing date for submission: 4th of March 2019
